

Lesson Pricing

Monthly Tuition- $230/month

Private Lesson- $50/lesson

Private lessons must be paid before receiving the lesson. All monthly tuition is due before the 5th of every month. If payment is not received before the 5th you may not be able to attend that month's lessons and temporarily lose eligibility for shows.

New students need to take a private lesson in order to be placed into the group lessons. Your group assignment will be decided by your instructor based on criteria outlined in the information packet.

The schedule may change throughout the year to account for daylight, weather changes and interferences due to horse shows or clinics. Please keep up to date on the schedule posted at the barn for any cancellations.

In the case of extreme weather, lessons will be canceled for the day. In the case of rain/storms the lesson may be changed to a horsemanship lesson for safety reasons. Switching from a mounted lesson to a horsemanship lesson is at the instructor's discretion.

All students must have appropriate riding attire (see below) when riding. If a rider does not have appropriate attire they will not be allowed to ride that day.

Needed Equipment

Rider's need to have the correct attire for their riding lessons. For the first several lessons, jeans and boots with a 3/4in heel are allowed until the rider is able to get breeches/jodhpurs and paddock boots. Helmets can be provided but it is suggested that every student purchases their own helmet for sanitary reasons. After a rider's first month of lessons they must have breeches/jodphers, their own riding helmet and riding boots/half chaps.

Rider's need:

Breeches or jodhpurs

Paddock boots and half chaps (or) tall boots

Helmet- brands must be Troxel, IRH, Ovation, or Trauma Void (other brands may qualify, ask if you like a helmet of a different brand!)
